Dogwoods Are In Bloom And Welcome Mat's Out As Morgan Prepares For Weekend Festival

A large crowd is expected in West Liberty this weekend for Morgan County's first annual Dogwood Festival.

The latching's out and visitors from near and far are expected for two days of swappin', tradin', buying, and selling and to enjoy with local residents the beauty of green hills, now resplendent in the white and red hues of blooming dogwood and lingering redbud blooms.

Various interesting displays and activities for young and old are planned throughout the two-day event, but the emphasis of the festival is on displaying, selling, and demonstrating authentic mountain-made handicrafts, crafted by area citizens.

At press time, planners reported that 48 booths for display and sale of handicrafts had been reserved by local artisans and more are expected.

In case of rain, all exhibits, booths, and displays will be moved to the former bowling lanes building on North Main Street.

The booths will be erected by Project Mainstream workers and local Kiwanians along West Liberty's main business section which will be blocked to traffic throughout the festival.

Visitors who come to view and buy mountain handicrafts will be treated to large displays of hand-pieced and appliqued quilts in nearly every conceivable able design, needle crafts such as afghans, crocheted sweaters, rugs, beautiful hand-made clothing of all types, examples of tating, fancy hand-made dolls and cornshuck dolls, hand-carved toys, furniture, and what nots of all kinds, genuine mountain crafts of every conceivable description.

Information Booth On Main Street

In addition, various individuals and groups will demonstrate mountain crafts and arts for visitors throughout the two-day event.

Mrs. Kathleen Blair and Mrs. Charlene Spencer, co-chairmen for the festival, remind persons who have reserved booths that booths reserved for them will bear their names. "Just look for the booth with your name and set up shop," says Mrs. Blair.

For the convenience of local artisans and visitors alike, an information and registration booth will be manned on Main Street in front of the courthouse during both days of the festival.

Local businesses have joined wholeheartedly in the festival's goal of providing citizens an opportunity to display and sell their handicrafts, antiques, etc. on Main Street. Many store windows are featuring displays of handcraft, antiques, old photographs depicting early days of the county, and all tastefully arranged around the dogwood theme.

Festival Opens At 9:30 A.M. Friday

The festival will get underway Friday when local artisans open their booths on Main Street at 9:30 a.m. The booths will remain open through 4:30 p.m.

At the same time, an art show, under the direction of Wendell Sherman, Morgan County High art teacher, and featuring paintings and drawings by local and visiting artists, will get underway on the parking lot of the Commercial Bank.

Friday is also school day at Morgan County High and students will show their art work and enter other exhibits in the festival.

An event reminiscent of one-room school days, an old-fashioned spelling bee, will be conducted in front of the courthouse at 11 a.m. Friday. To be conducted by Crockett Principa Andy Patrick, the bee will be between winners of bees at the county's five schools.

At 7:30 p.m. Friday, Richard Jett will have charge of an old-fashioned Country Jamboree at the courthouse. Performers will include Exco Hankins and Jackie and the Echoes Band from Lexington, along with the Blue Valley Boys from Morehead and other entertainers. Admission will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for children. If the crowd becomes too large, the Jamboree will be moved to the high school gymnasium.

On Saturday, main street booths will open for business at 9:30 a.m. and continue through 4:30 p.m. Various demonstrations of mountain crafts and arts will continue on Main Street through the day and the art show and sale will continue through the day.

At 10 a.m. Saturday, a parade will form on the high school athletic field. Plans for a band festival did not materialize, but three bands will be on hand to perform in the parade along with many horses, buggies, some antique cars, wagons, etc. Stanley Franklin is in charge. Persons wishing to march or enter a vehicle in the parade should report to the athletic field at the high school at 10 a.m.

KNIFE SWAPPIN

An event expected to draw a mammoth crowd of swappers and spectators is the knife swappin, and display of knife collections, Indian relics, coins, and watches which will get underway at the high school gymnasium at 9 a.m. Saturday and continue through 5 p.m. Harold Barber is in charge.

At 2:30 p.m. Saturday a double-header baseball game between the Morgan High Blue Devils and Hitchens High School will get underway at the high school athletic field.

Highlighting the event for the younger set will be a rock band concert at the high school gym Saturday night from 8 until midnight. Admission will be charged for this event which will feature Wayne Young, the Common Ground, a popular rock group from Louisville.

TO DEMONSTRATE CRAFTS

Among the various mountain crafts to be demonstrated for visitors on Main Street during the festival will be—

Making cornshuck dolls, demonstrated by Mrs. Kathleen Blair whose famous cornshuck dolls will be sold at the festival. Mrs. Blair and Mrs. Thelma McGuire will also sell hand-made jewelry made with coal from Cannel City's famous mines.

The 36-hole Dogwood Open Golf Tournament for men will be played at beautiful Pleasant Valley Country Club Saturday and Sunday in conjunction with the Dogwood Festival. Qualifying round will be played Saturday beginning at 11 a.m. Championship play will begin at 1 p.m. Sunday.

An old-fashioned blacksmith shop will be in operation in front of Walter's Market. Arthur Barker of Jephtha will demonstrate the art of making hickory bottomed chairs and will have several samples of his chairs for sale. Mr. Barker makes the chairs with a case knife, a wood mallet, and a hand auger, using no metal fasteners or glue.

Members of the Cane Homemakers Club dressed in period costume will demonstrate the nearly-lost art of making homemade lye soap and hominy. They also will have homemade soap and hominy for sale.

Another nearly lost art which will be demonstrated during the festival will be the earthing and spinning of wool on an old-fashioned spinning wheel by Mrs. Carrie Shaver of Pomp.

A basket weaving demonstration also is planned. Walter McClain of Index will be present to demonstrate the art of broommaking and will have several of his finished brooms for sale.

Wendell Johnson, Jr., a Morgan native who now is a teacher at Eminence, will demonstrate the use of a Potter's wheel on a hand turned wheel of his own making one day during the festival.

PHOTOGRAPHY DISPLAY

Another feature of the festival will be a display of photography, including many old photographs of early Morgan County scenes, and many of these will be for sale by contacting the photographer who made the prints from old pictures submitted by local residents.

Store window displays are a must. Don't miss them. Nearly every item featured in the window displays has a long interesting history which will be of interest to former Morgan Countyans back for the festival.

Store owners have worked long and hard to prepare their displays and they're certainly worth seeing.

Everyone have yourselves a good time. Since it's the first such event staged here, there'll probably be some minor fouls. Extra police have been hired to help sort things out during the festival and the information booth on Main Street will be manned at all times. The idea is for you to enjoy your stay in West Liberty during the festival, and if you have fun folks here will be happy. Have a good time.

Growers Approve Poundage By Overwhelming Majority

Morgan Growers
Vote 98.9 Pct. For Price Supports

Morgan County's burley growers Tuesday voted overwhelmingly to maintain price supports on their main money crop. A total of 3,242 of Morgan's estimated 3,600 eligible voters turned out to vote at 10 polling places or voted by absentee ballot. They approved the poundage-control plan on burley by a resounding 98.9 percent majority.

Of the 3,242 votes cast, only 34 voted against the new program.

One community — Cannel City — cast 100 percent of its 465 votes for the poundage program.

Farm leaders here were delighted with the excellent voter turnout. Tuesday's turnout was considerably larger than the 2,449 growers who voted on an acreage-poundage question in 1968.

According to official tabulations released by the Morgan County ASCS office, which conducted the local voting, the vote in the county's 10 polling places was as follows:

West Liberty—344 yes, 3 no. Blair Mills—342 yes, 9 no. At Blair Mills 110 voted at Wendell Black's Store with 108 voting yes and 2 voting no. Of the 241 who voted at Wagley School, 234 voted yes and 7 voted no.

Cannel City—465 yes and no votes against. Voting places for the Cannel City community were at the Cane Lodge Hall and at Adele.

Dingus—267 yes, 1 no. Ezel—633 yes, 4 no. Lenox—346 yes, 10 no. In the Lenox community, 82 votes were cast at Matthew of which 73 were yes and 9 no. Of the 274 votes cast at the other polling place at Keaton's Grocery at Lenox, 273 voted yes and 1 no.

Grassy Creek—435 yes, 1 no. Absentees—376 yes, 6 no.

CAFETERIA IS SLATED FOR NEW BLDG. ON MAIN ST.

Robert Conley of West Liberty, who has leased from Charles Hutchinson the 32x100-ft. brick business building on Main Street, announced this week that he will operate a cafeteria-type restaurant on the Main Street floor of the new building.

To be known as The Morgan House, the establishment will have a cafeteria in the front with a dining and meeting room and kitchen in the rear.

The three-story building, which will have a colonial-style front, will have 14 office rooms on the third floor, some of which Mr. Conley said already have been contracted.

Mr. Conley said he has tentative plans to operate a four-lane bowling alley on the ground floor which faces Prestonsburg Street.

The new building is being erected on the site of the former Elam Utility Co. office which was destroyed in last July's big Main Street fire, and which Mr. Hutchinson purchased recently from Mrs. Ella Blair of Lexington.

Mr. Conley said a parking lot will be built on the Prestonsburg Street side of the lot to hold 30 automobiles. In addition to free parking for customers in the side lot, there will be parking space in the rear of the building for 10 cars, Conley said.

The new building will be air conditioned throughout.

CITY COUNCIL IN BUSY MEETING RULES OUT MORE TRAILER COURTS

The West Liberty City Council in its regular monthly meeting Monday passed an ordinance prohibiting establishment of additional trailer courts within the city limits of West Liberty. As a result, it will be unlawful hereafter for any person, group, or business organization to establish or maintain any new trailer parks in this city. The ordinance is published elsewhere in this edition.

In other action, City Council authorized Police Chief Ed Gillespie to hire two persons to serve as extra policemen during the Dogwood Festival here Friday and Saturday.

Granted permission to B. C. Phillips of West Liberty to connect a proposed trailer park near West Liberty with the city water system, but at his own expense.

The proposed trailer park is to be located on the Sam Carter property just east of West Liberty.

Authorized Spalding Engineers of Hazard to begin drawing plans for a new water plant at West Liberty. Council agreed that a new water plant will be a necessity within the next 10 years.

Voted to borrow $17,000 from Commercial Bank to pay on city's new fire truck, the balance to be paid off in yearly installments with fire tax funds.

Authorized payment of $250 to Planning Commission for work on water and sewage survey.

Discussed plans to help the Fiscal Court remodel hangar at West Liberty Airport for use as a garage for a county. (Continued On Page Eight)

COMMERCIAL BANK PLANS BRANCH OFFICE TO BE LOCATED AT EZEL

Commercial Bank of West Liberty this week announced plans to erect a new branch banking office at Ezel.

Bank President James R. Perry said applications for permission to construct the proposed new facility are being submitted this week to the State Banking Commission and to the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation in Washington.

Decision to expand the bank's facilities was made by the institution's board of directors at its April meeting. Perry said, "and is part of the bank's continuing efforts to provide safe, fast, and more convenient banking service to our customers throughout the county and the area."

Continuing economic growth and the bank's long history of service to Morgan citizens, Perry said bank officials feel an obligation to keep abreast of modern banking trends and techniques designed to provide better service to customers.

Establishment of branch banks in outlying areas is becoming increasingly more popular with the banking public as a method of providing this service, Perry said, and added that the bank's board of directors has been considering such a step for several months.

Commercial Bank, long a trusted bulwark of financial aid in this area, reported assets totaling nearly $12 million on Dec. 31, 1970.

Kentucky Votes 98.1 Percent For Price Supports

The nation's burley-tobacco farmers overwhelmingly approved a plan to control production through poundage at Tuesday's referendum, thus continuing price supports for three years.

Unofficial figures reported by all of Kentucky's 120 counties show that 231,035 of the state's growers cast a "Yes" vote in Tuesday's voting, while only 4,255 voted "No." This was 98.1 percent for the plan.

A two-thirds majority of those voting was necessary for the plan to carry and Kentucky farmers swarmed to polling places in country stores, schools and courthouses Tuesday to approve the poundage plan.

Homer Yonts, executive director of the Kentucky Agricultural Stabilization Service (ASCS), said that it was apparent that fear of farmer apathy was unfounded. "The turnout was excellent," he said.

Across the eight-state burley belt, the story was much the same. Tennessee where a bloc of "small growers" defeated the past two acreage-poundage referendums, the vote climbed past 90 percent in favor of the program. Other states reported were Ohio, 96.9 percent; Missouri, 96.8 percent; Virginia, 97.1 percent, and more than 90 percent in West Virginia, Indiana, and North Carolina in favor of poundage.

In Eastern Kentucky, here are how some of the counties voted:

Beil, 21 yes, none against; Boyd, 84 yes, 1 against; Breathitt, 1,774 yes, 1 against; Clay, 2,728 yes, 36 against. Elliott, 2,355 yes, 53 no; Floyd, 38 yes, 1 no; Greenup, 992 to 57; Harlan, 24 to 0; Jackson, 2,323 to 123; Knott, 855 to 26; Lawrence, 725 to 5; Lee, 704 to 36; Leslie, 336 to 5; Letcher, 43 to 0; Lewis, 2,111 to 36; McGraw, 102 to 2.

Maggoffin, 1,600 to 70; Martin, 4 to 0; Morgan, 3,208 to 34; Owsley, 2,303 to 12; Perry, 230 to 4; Pike, 2 to 0; Powell, 867 to 21; Pulaski, 4,788 to 147; Robertson, 1,005 to 10; Rockcastle, 2,622 to 71, and Wolfe, 1,903 to 18.

Passage of the poundage control program means that government price supports will be in effect for the year 1971, 1972 and 1973 crops. A similar referendum will be conducted in 1974.

The U.S. secretary of agriculture announced earlier this spring that the average price support for the 1971 leaf will be 7 1/2 cents per pound.

Quotes Already Fixed

County ASCS offices mailed farm poundage quotas to farmers April 21 for the 1971 crop. These quotas were computed under the provisions of the new law, which involved taking the best four yields from the past five crop years.

The total pounds produced per acre by the farmer for the four years were added and then divided by four. This figure was then multiplied by the farmer's acreage allotment.

This gave the farmer his preliminary farm quota. Then 5 per cent of this figure was subtracted, which represented the production cut provided by law.

Quotas, however, cannot exceed 3,500 pounds per acre. Small growers have special protection in the new plan. Those who had one-half acre or less under the old acreage program can have their quotas cut only 2 1/2 per cent in 1972 and 1973. All growers took a 5 per cent cut for 1971, and the growers who had allotments above one-half acre will probably get 5 per cent reductions in 1972 and 1973.

Another feature in the new law, which many experts feel helped sell the plan to the small growers, is the provision for ease and transfer of quotas.

Up to 15,000 pounds may be leased within a county and may be transferred from one farm (Continued on page eight)

NOMINATE JOHN R. TURNER

As Your Democratic Candidate

For

STATE SENATOR

OF THE
27TH SENATORIAL DISTRICT

To the Voters of Morgan County—

As you are well aware by this time, I have served in the State Senate for eight years, representing the old 23rd district. During those eight years, I represented my electorate to the best of my ability. I made campaign promises to the voters of that district and I am proud to state that those promises were kept.

I would like to be able to claim all the credit for the keeping of those promises, but I would be less than honest if I did not share this credit with a favorable state administration who assisted me in carrying out the obligations I had made.

Now I am seeking the Democratic nomination for the office of State Senator in the newly-created 27th District. I have made several general promises to you, the voters of the 27th Senatorial District, which I intend to keep. In addition, each county has different problems which need special attention. I have talked with a number of citizens in Morgan, Wolfe, Elliott and Rowan Counties and find that one of the greatest concerns in a connecting link between the Mountain Parkway and I-64.

I promise you, that if I am elected, I shall support and fight for a major roadway starting in Wolfe County,

RICHMOND DAVIS WINS FORD'S TOP HATTER AWARD

Richmond Davis of McGuire Ford, Inc., West Liberty, has been named a winner of Ford Division's coveted Top Hatter Award for his sales performance during 1970. He will receive his award — the highest honor any Ford salesman can earn — at an honors banquet at the Stouffer's Inn in Cincinnati, Ohio, on May 22.

John W. Bonnell, Ford Division's Cincinnati district sales manager, said that only about 450 of the nation's 27,000 Ford salesmen received the "Top Hatter Award" in 1970. Mr. Bonnell said the award is designed to focus attention on the most outstanding Ford salesmen throughout the country and to highlight automotive sales as a profession that performs a "valuable service to the national economy and the local community."

Law Enforcement Officers Guests Of Ministerial Assn.

Special guests of the Morgan County Ministerial Association at its May meeting Tuesday at the West Liberty Methodist Church were County officials and law enforcement officers.

The guests were invited to discuss with the ministers such problems as drug abuse, bootlegging, and other matters pertaining to the welfare of the county.

Present were County Judge Gene Allen, County Attorney Thomas Davis, Sheriff James Brooks, and State Trooper Ken Burton.

The law enforcement officers indicated that they have encountered very little illegal drug use and drug peddling in Morgan County, and indicated that efforts to control bootlegging activity are hampered because of citizens' unwillingness to obtain warrants for bootlegging activities.

In other business, the ministers elected new officers to serve during the next year, as follows —

Robert Franklin, president; Stephen Bliffen, vice president; Robert Myneer, secretary, and Roy Benton, treasurer.

Ministers present were Robert Myneer, Arnold Helton, E. R. Heaton, A. N. Lester, Roy Benton, James Allen, Stephen Bliffen, Carl Faulkner, and a former member, Joe Nevius of Albany.

Plans also were completed for the Men's Prayer Breakfast Saturday May 15 at the West Liberty Christian Church.

MAGOFFIN SUES TERRY-ELKHORN ON TRUCKING

SALYERSVILLE — Magoffin County Circuit Court has gone to court to seek relief for residents of the Gun Creek area who have protested road destruction and operation of a public nuisance by Terry-Elkhorn Mining Company.

The county officials filed suit asking an injunction against the mining firm to halt coal transporting in oversized and over-weighted trucks; littering the highway by spillage from trucks; using trucks not wholly and duly licensed; permitting drivers to drive trucks without valid Kentucky driver's license; operating trucks at unreasonable hours of the day and on unreasonable rates of speed and in unreasonable manner.

Also the suit asks for corrective measures "to alleviate the dusty condition on said Gun Creek Road, created by defendants' transportation of coal," and $100,000 "for use of the plaintiff or for use of the Commonwealth of Kentucky to be allocated to plaintiff to be used upon the road system of Magoffin County."

In a previous court action Terry-Elkhorn paid to Magoffin County and the Commonwealth road damages and placed additional money in escrow to secure the future repair of the roads; however, Gun Creek, a feeder road, was not included in the initial judgement.

MRS. CONGLETON AIDED LIBRARY DRIVE IN MORGAN

Mrs. William Thomas Congleton, the former Elie Kilgore, mother of John Breckinridge's wife, Helma, was born and grew up near West Liberty. Her father, Elijah Kilgore, is buried in Neal Valley, and the farm on which her ancestor, Thomas Reed, settled in the 1820's is still owned by members of the Reed family. Her mother, the former Lucy Reed, once operated the Hotel DeLancy at Cannel City for a short time after the death of her husband.

As a young woman Mrs. Congleton taught several schools near West Liberty (Jones Creek, Muscle Shoals, South Fork). She later was secretary in the office of the Kentucky Block Camel Coal Company, in Cannel City, where she met Tom Congleton of Powell County who was employed as the telegraph operator for the O&K Railroad Company. They were married and moved to Lexington, where their children were born.

While the children were growing up, Mrs. Congleton made annual trips with them to visit her sister, Mrs. Alex Snowden, in Cannel City. One of the favorite places in the living room at John Breckinridge's home in Lexington, where Mrs. Congleton lives, is a brass kerosene lamp, now converted to electricity which was originally purchased from the commissary at Cannel City.

Mrs. Congleton celebrated her 90th birthday last December, but she is still very much alive and alert, occupying a good deal of her time studying her collection of genealogical records and books. Her years of teaching school in her native West Liberty and her appreciation of the value of good libraries, prompted her to contribute substantially when her son-in-law, John Breckinridge, was state chairman of the drive to raise funds to build the Kennedy Memorial library in Morgan County.

(NGLE records show that Mrs. Congleton contributed $5,000.00 of her own personal money on the Kennedy Library.) (pd.)

VOTE FOR JOE STACY FOR SENATOR

"A WORKING SENATOR"

1. Joe Stacy sponsored the Bill to eliminate Sales Tax on Farm Machinery.
2. Joe Stacy voted "No" on Nunn's 5% Sales Tax and the Bill that increased automobile license fees. His chief opponent voted for both Bills.

Senator Joe Stacy has demonstrated that he is a working Senator by staying on the job, sponsoring and working for the passage of legislation which vitally affected the people of his District. One good example of his leadership was his sponsorship and guidance for the passage of the Bill which resulted in the elimination of the Sales Tax on farm machinery.

This farmer, shown here with Senator Stacy, saved hundreds of dollars because of Stacy's Bill which eliminated Sales Tax on farm machinery. Joe Stacy has always been a friend of the farmer.

Absenteeism is an Issue in This Campaign

By contrast, while Joe Stacy was on the job working hard for the interests of the people of his district, his chief opponent who was a member of the State Senate, 1960-1968, was absent and failed to vote on over 40% of the total issues which affected his people. Of a total of 1304 Bills considered by the Senate, he failed to vote on 525 of them. These are Bills pertaining to Education, Highways, Workmen's Compensation, Veterans Benefits, Social Services and Agriculture.

We again challenge you Mr. Part Time Senator to tell us where you were when these important issues were being voted on?

The people have a right to know why you failed to properly represent them.

VOTE FOR JOE STACY FOR STATE SENATOR

Joe Stacy has an interest in the people of this District. He is sober, reliable and truly deserves your vote.

Arthur Barker of Jephtha, an oldtime chairmaker, who plans to display and sell some of his chairs at the Dogwood Festival in West Liberty May 7-8, is shown at work with a wooden mallet, one of the three tools he uses to make his chairs. The only other tools used by Mr. Barker to construct his chairs are a Case pocket knife to form the pieces of the frames and a hand augur to drill holes. He uses no metal fasteners or glue of any kind to fasten his chairs together, using only the wood mallet to drill the rungs in place. His chairs are more solid than many factory-made chairs using metal screws. In addition, Mr. Barker weaves the hickory bottoms himself. He says it takes him from one to two months to complete one chair. Mr. Barker plans to demonstrate his craft at the Dogwood Festival. At top right is a rocker recently completed by Mr. Barker, similar to ones he plans to sell at the festival.

Mrs. Evelena Nickell of Stacy Fork, above, displays handcrafts she plans to display for sale at the Dogwood Festival, including rag dolls, and throw rugs from plastic bread wrappers. She is holding samples of twine dolls which are in big demand by her friends and neighbors. At left is a closeup of one of the colorful twine dolls.

Eli McGuire of Ezel is blind. But as a hobby, he makes wooden knitting needles. Using a pocket knife, Mr. McGuire makes the needles, shown below, from various types and shades of wood. Friends have found it impossible to confuse him in pairing up needles of different types of woods. Invariably, he will place the cedar needles with the cedar needles, not a difficult task due to the aroma of cedar. But he can also match up walnut needles and maple needles, etc., merely by the feel and texture of the wood, friends say. He plans to demonstrate his hobby at the Dogwood Festival and will have samples of his hand-carved needles for sale.

READY FOR THE DOGWOOD FESTIVAL — Mrs. Vernia Dulin of near West Liberty displays pieced and appliqued quilts and stuffed frogs she plans to sell at the Dogwood Festival May 7-8. Mrs. Dulin, who has been making quilts "ever since I can remember," says she can make any kind. She is holding a pieced quilt made in the "double wedding ring" pattern. Lying beside her, from left, are quilts in "snake's trail," postage stamp, and sunflower patterns. Appliqued quilts on back of couch are from left,

Visitors to the Morgan County Dogwood Festival at West Liberty May 7-8 will have an opportunity to view and make purchases from one of the largest arrays of authentic mountain handcrafts ever gathered at one place in East Kentucky. Planning to display her handmade quilts at the festival is Mrs. Ethel Trusty of Crockett (above). Quilt patterns which she plans to display are displayed on the bed. They include bleeding heart, Dresden plate, tree of roses, tulips, and basket of tulips, all quilted by hand by Mrs. Trusty who says she has been making quilts since before she was married

Andrew Cecil, shown above busy at his favorite pastime, adopted whittling as a serious hobby about three years ago. A semi-retired farmer, Mr. Cecil has accumulated a house full of eye-catching carvings, some of which he plans to display at the Dogwood Festival May 7-8 in West Liberty. At top right is a whatnot shelf fashioned from mule hames and containing several samples of Mr. Cecil's handwork, all handmade from blocks of native cedar and walnut. His specialties, shown in bottom photos, are at left miniature replicas of hammers and anvils and horseshoes that are authentic in detail down to the last nail hole; and at right is an example of the attractive four-inch-high vases he carves from split hickory sticks. Mrs. Cecil says her husband turns out several of the carved whatnots at each sitting. He does his whittling seated in a rocking chair in the living room. Mr. Cecil is a cousin of Sam D. Cecil of Hazel Green, next week.

With the Morgan County Dogwood Festival (May 7-8) only three weeks away, Sam D. Cecil of Hazel Green, one of the area's most skilled whittlers, is busy making and selecting items he's already made for a display on West Liberty's Main Street during the event. Shown above at work in his workshop, Mr. Cecil's two "specialties" hand carved coffee sets, made of native red cedar (top right) and hens and roosters (right center) are highly prized by collectors. Each piece of the 10-piece coffee set is carved from a solid block of cedar, nothing glued on. Mr. Cecil says it requires around 30 days, working seven to eight hours per day, to complete a full set. The hen and rooster sets, carved from forked apple tree branches, require about a half day of work. Mr. Cecil says that the branches must be selected with care because they must "fork just right" to get the desired effect. At bottom right are examples of other attractive and useful articles made by Mr. Cecil from poplar, hickory, walnut, cherry, and other woods. Cecil from poplar, hickory, walnut, cherry, and other woods. From left in bottom photo are a match holder, miniature butter churn, miniature ox yoke, small magazine rack, a pin cushion, and sewing basket. Mr. Cecil, a retired farmer, says he has been "whittling" for eight or nine years and has sold his handwork to friends and relatives in 17 states. He is looking forward to participating in the Dogwood Festival "if health permits."

This pretty Morgan County lass, Miss Rose Burchett, pauses from her farm chores to display an old fashioned oak basket made by her uncle, Linzie Burchett of Relief. Mr. Burchett plans to display and sell baskets like this "more than a bushel" size and others of various sizes and shapes at the Dogwood Festival here May 7-8. During the festival, expected to draw one of the largest crowds ever to visit West Liberty, Mr. Burchett will demonstrate the basketmaking he learned from his father, the late Grover Burchett of Relief. Mr. Burchett, a carpenter by trade, says basketmaking is a winter hobby and he gathers the "basket oak" from the woods himself. During the two-day festival, visitors will have the opportunity to view and buy hundreds of beautiful and authentic hand-made crafts which will be displayed by local artists. In addition, many other activities are planned, including a high school band festival, a rock band concert for teen-agers, knife swapping, and a sidewalk sale of original art works by some of Kentucky's leading professional artists. And everybody everywhere is invited.

KNIFE SWAPPING, and trading in Indian relics, old coins and watches will be a special event held in conjunction with the Dogwood Festival in West Liberty — but for one day only, Saturday, May 8 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the high school gym. Collectors and traders in knives, coins, Indian relics and watches from a wide area will occupy booths in the gym in a day of trading supervised by Harold Barber, assisted by other knife traders and collectors, Marvin Burton, Langley Franklin, Charles Day and Paul Williams. Booths may be rented at $3 each. Barber, who has a collection of over 265 knives that have been valued at more than $4,000, will have his entire collection on display (but not for sale). Barber's collection of 265 knives is shown in top photo. And the bottom photo is a close-up of them. He has more than 40 brands of barlow-type knives. The middle tier, top to bottom, shows some of them in this order—Remington Barlow, Russell Barlow, Shapleigh Barlow, and a Winchester Barlow valued at $100. Knives at left are a sword, and a Case Tester. At right are a Diamond Edge and an E. C. Simmons. Admission is free to the Knife Swapping event.

THE LEGEND OF THE DOGWOOD

By Cyrilla J. Mansmann

Deep in the forest among sturdy tall trees
Grows one that is lofty, the sturdiest of these.

With great majesty and a stately air,
Near the oak and the elm, the dogwood stands there . . .
Whispering softly to the other trees,
Happy and gay in the early spring breeze,
Waving its branches high up to the sky,
Calling to the willow, "How Happy am I!"

To the woods one day came several men
With wicked gleam in their eyes, and then
They said of the dogwood, "Tis just right!"
They chopped and they hewed with all of their might.

Down went the dogwood with a crashing sound
That echoed through the forest for miles around.

Then these men dragged the dogwood away
Over long rough roads to place where they Made a large cross, both straight and broad:
'Twas the cross they used to crucify God.

The trees in the forest hung their heads in shame
When the terrible news of Christ's death came.

Now the dogwoods were most sorrowful of all,
And down to the earth they let their tears fall.

Then the forest became a ghostly sight,
For every tear became a blossom white.

The blossoms formed a cross, made of petals four,
And the print of a nail each petal bore.
Each tip was stained with rust of brown;
The heart of the flower was Jesus' crown.

The poor dogwood wept and sadly cried,
'Twas on one of our trees that the good Lord Died."

The whole forest wakened, their hearts with pity stirred.
The woodland ground softened, the tiniest wildflower heard,
They raised their little eyes just opened from sleep;
They crept close to the dogwoods and begged them not to weep.

Then the sun burst forth in splendor; this message Jesus sent,
"From this day, all dogwood trees will be twisted and bent,
Neremore will they grow straight, tall and strong;
Neveermore will men be able to use them for a wrong.
Whoever sees their blossoms will remember the tears they shed
And think of Jesus, crucified and risen from the dead."

The dogwoods smiled their thanks and said, "We're glad to be Twisted, gnarled and bent if our blossoms speak of Thee."

So when you see a dogwood, examine it very well,
For its lovely rust-stained flowers, their story to you will tell.

... TIME for fun, time to blossom out in new clothes, start a garden, spruce up the home, check the car, enjoy active sports, relax and play, go places and do things. And in Morgan County, who puts more smiles in Spring? Local merchants, that's who. Don't miss their sparkling selections and lively ideas for you, your family, and home. This year, the following Morgan County merchants take pride in inviting you to attend West Liberty's first Dogwood Festival May 7-8, a time reserved for their customers to come to town and display, trade, and sell their own wares on Main Street. Possibly the largest display of mountain handcrafts ever to be gathered in one location will be on display in West Liberty during the festival. Morgan County artisans will display coverlets, pieced quilts, dolls, handcarved toys and what-nots, cane chairs, hickory baskets, hundreds of items, all mountain-made. There'll be antiques, Barlow knives, homemade candies and cakes, swappin' and tradin' mountain style. Don't miss it.

West Liberty now has two modern fire trucks. At left is the town's new pump and ladder truck which arrived from the dealer last week. Standing beside the truck are, from left, Wilmer and J. W. Cecil of C. F. Cecil and Son Garage, from which the cab and chassis were purchased, Fire Chief Arnold Helton, and Andrew Bradley, members of the volunteer fire department. The new fire engine was equipped by the Boardman Co. of Oklahoma City, Okla. Slightly larger than the town's 1961 model pumper, the new engine carries more ladders, has a larger pump capable of pumping 750 gallons of water per minute, a deluge nozzle mounted on top of the truck capable of throwing 500 gallons of water a minute for some 500 feet, and is capable of handling up to nine hoses at one time. The new truck and equipment cost the city over $30,000.

At right is West Liberty's 1961 model pumper capable of handling five hoses and which was used to contain last July's disastrous Main Street blaze which destroyed three business buildings. This photo was made when the truck was delivered to the city council after its purchase in 1961. From left are members of the West Liberty City Council of that time, Mrs. Edna Burton, Catherine Walton, Charles Black, Mrs. Eva Nevius, Mrs. Kathleen Blair, Clyde Whitt, a representative of the company which equipped the truck presenting keys to Mayor Norman Sheets, and between the two, Fire Chief Arnold Helton. The truck cost the city $17,000.

At right is 1941 fire truck which was purchased that year for $4,500 and which provided West Liberty with fire protection until 1961. Cab and chassis for this truck was purchased from Morgan Motor Co. for $492.00. Cab and chassis of the 1961 truck cost $3,800. Cab and chassis for the 1971 model cost $6,400. Shown with the fire-truck upon its arrival here in 1941 are, from left, Chief of Police Bill McKenzie, Ed Turner, Kenneth Turner, Boyd Blair, Ed Gillespie, Norman Gullett, (next man unknown), and Paul Turner. Atop truck are from left, Dr. Stanley Gullett, his sons, Mark and David, Fire Chief John Turner, Rev. Harlan Murphy. Boys at right are unidentified.

MORGAN NATIVE DIES IN WOLFE

Mary Frances Patrick Dunn, daughter of the late James Calvin and Evelyn Wilson Bailey was born Aug. 12, 1898, and departed this life April 18, 1971 at the age of 72 years, eight months, and six days. She was a native of Morgan County and a member of the Church of God. She had two children who preceded her in death.

She is survived by one brother, Elbert Bailey, Jenkins, Ky., eight grandchildren, and 11 great-grandchildren. Services were held at Porter and Son Chapel at 10 a.m. Tuesday, April 20, by Rev. Steve Sandefer. Burial was in the Bailey Cemetery, at Insko, under the direction of Porter and Son Funeral Home.

The reason a dog has so many friends is that his tail wags in stead of his tongue.

Mrs. Anderson Williams and Mrs. Alderson Williams of Elamton made and dressed these dolls for sale at the Dogwood Festival. They will be on display on Main Street during the two-day festival. Similar to the famous "Jenny Lind Dolls," popular in the 1850's, those pictured above were handmade by the two Mrs. Williams with the exception of the China heads, arms, hands, legs, and feet. The bodies are made of cloth, stuffed with sawdust and the hand-made clothing is of the style of the late 19th century. The original Jenny Lind dolls were popular in the 1850's, when P. T. Barnum brought the famous "Swedish Nightingale" to this country on tour.

FOOD STAMPS BRINGS FEES INTO ROBBERY

PAINTSVILLE — Federal authorities may enter investigation of a store robbery here April 9, in which food stamps were stolen, Kentucky State Police revealed.

The federal stamps were taken along with $22,000 in checks and $2,000 in cash, Det. B. J. Musie said.

He reported one of two robbers who took the bag of cash and checks from a clerk of the IGA store was about 40, weighed 160-180 pounds, and about 5 feet, 9 or 10 inches tall. He got into a dark colored pickup truck after taking the funds from the two, who had been headed for a bank night depository.

The truck was last seen headed south on U.S. 23.

"Pants are vital to a War-robe."—Headline of ad. Yes, indeed, they certainly are—especially in winter.

LACK OF RAINFALL HOLDS GRAYSON LAKE LEVEL LOW

GRAYSON—A lot of boaters and fishermen are praying, or at least hoping, for rain.

They want to see Grayson Reservoir filled up better than it is now, with wide areas of shoreline bare and exposed, covered neither by water nor vegetative growth.

Because the reservoir is primarily a flood-control facility, water in the lake is dropped late each winter in anticipation of heavy spring rains. Normally by this time the big bowl of water would likely be filled to summer pool. A lack of rain, which has burred lawns and dried up farms, has caused the reservoir to remain low.

In fact, because the Corps of Engineers must maintain a minimum flow of water in the Little Sandy River, the level may be dropping instead of building up.

Jim Napier, manager of the reservoir for the Corps, said Thursday the water level was at 633.28 feet, a dozen feet below summer elevation. It had risen nine inches since Tuesday, following rains that night.

"It's a problem, a disadvantage to all recreation," he said. "Hopefully, we'll get to summer pool with rain. We haven't been there since we dropped to winter elevation."

The lower level causes the surface area of the lake to shrink in many places, depending upon the banks, leaving less room for boaters. "The biggest problems have been with the biggest boats. They'd like to get on, but they can't yet. We need about three inches of rain to bring it up."

The dam is letting out 25 cubic feet of water a second into a Sandy, the lowest amount it is permitted to release. The flow is necessary to continue water supply for Grayson, five miles downstream.

VARIOUS ACTIVITIES PLANNED FOR SENIOR CITIZENS THIS MONTH

Since May has been declared Senior Citizens month by President Nixon and Governor Louie B. Nunn, many activities have been planned for Country Gathering members residing in Morgan County.

The Country Gathering office located in Olive Hill is arranging several trips for senior citizens. Plans are being made for members from Carter, Elliott, Greenup, Lewis, Morgan, and Rowan Counties to take a trip to the Smokey Mountains. This will include a tour and overnight stay at Gatlinburg, Tennessee. The next day the group will visit the Cherokee Indian Reservation. Again this year, plans are being made to attend the Berea Arts and Crafts Fair to be held during May. Since many elderly citizens enjoy making handicraft articles, this is one of their favorite trips. Plans for an Annual Picnic also are in the making. Definite times and dates for these trips will be announced later.

Grayson, Olive Hill Wet-Dry Elections Scheduled July 2

GRAYSON — Wet-dry elections in Carter County's two incorporated cities will be conducted simultaneously July 2, according to an order entered Monday by County Judge David C. McDavid. Grayson and Olive Hill petitions were examined by the court, and though a trio of ministers from the two communities looked over the signatures and suggested a few were not in proper order, no formal protest was filed against the election.

The Kentucky Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults owns and operates seven Easter Seal facilities as a part of its programs of providing services for physically handicapped children.

The Kentucky State White House Conference on Aging will be held at the University of Kentucky, Lexington, on May 25 and 26. It is possible that several Morgan County elderly citizens will be representing the area.

The current program, funded by the Administration on Aging of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, is scheduled to terminate in June. If refunding is not available, citizens in the six counties will suffer not only from a nutritional standpoint but socially and economically. Once again most will be isolated, as was the case, when the program began. Senator Charles H. Percy (Illinois) has introduced a Supplemental Appropriations Bill to continue the 18 nutrition programs such as Country Gathering which are scattered across the United States for one year. This legislation is before the committee and should be acted upon this week.

Today, stores are full of children's toys of all types, made from plastics and metal in gaudy colors, and it's a rare child who hasn't got more store-bought toys than he knows what to do with. Not many years ago, however, and most Morgan Counties past the age of 45 can remember, few families could afford to buy store-bought toys for their children. In those days many fathers provided their children with toys they made by hand in their spare time. Money was scarce and had to be laid by to provide the family with the necessities. Pictured above are some authentic reproductions of toys similar to those many Morgan parents today played with and treasured when they were children, all handmade by Stanley Haney of Florress. They include handmade baby beds, doll table and chairs, a reproduction of a horse-drawn sled, a miniature corn planter, and replicas of plows suitable for use on what-not tables and in dens. Nostalgic parents may wish to look them over, maybe even buy one. All will be on sale at the Dogwood Festival this weekend.

OBITUARY

LACY

Rexford Lacy, son of William Preston and Mary Seaff Lacy, was born Sept. 12, 1926. He departed this life April 16, 1971 at the Good Samaritan Hospital, Lexington, Kentucky.

He was married to Betty Vance Lacy July 7, 1950, and to this union were born two children: Joan Elaine and Michael Rex both at home.

He has five sisters: Mrs. Bertha Holt, Cincinnati, Ohio; Mrs. Daisy Jones and Blanche, Cannel City; Mrs. Cozetta Lewis and Mrs. Gay Light, of Franklin, Ohio. Also six brothers, Elsworth, deceased; Steward, Cannel City; Virgil Ray and Preston Jr. both of Dayton, Ohio; Lawrence, Carlisle, Ohio, and Robert of new Carlisle, Ohio.

One year ago today he called Edwin Benton to his home to make a recording of plans for his funeral. This recording is one hour of his own voice, and needless to say will arrest the attention of everyone. He unfolds scriptures, gives comforting words to his family and friends, expresses his very soul to the hundreds far and near who kept the long stream of assistance in his behalf. Last, but not least, he accented the phrase that "This is my Crowning DAY."

Coincidence seems to be a familiar word and stays alive in the life of every individual and family. In the period of one year, Elsworth Lacy, Preston Lacy, Sr. Rex, as he was called by his friends, was one among the group that Malachi, the ancient Prophet referred to as one that God will select when he makes up his Jewels. Rex looked into the future whether it was sunshine or shadows with bright anticipation. He firmly believed that God gave life, and gave it abundantly to live. All who knew him will say that he lived a full life. Every fiber of his very soul was stretched to their full capacity to fulfill his extreme desires to share his life with his family and those about him. He was only one out of millions that could smile through tears. Listen to the silence of the piano, the silence of the pillars of the church, and even the Hymn Books will miss his presence from the fact he used them so many, many times, in singing his favorite song, "I cannot find the way alone." The church has lost a strong pillar, his help and his sunshine.

We wonder why a man of his value could only spend forty-four years with us. The Apostle Paul describes it as, "Gods ways are past finding out." The only way we can comprehend its significance is: Some flowers are too beautiful to bloom and remain on the earth; God wants them in his flower garden and to be in his presence.

April 19 — Mrs. Bonnie Randolph and son George, and daughter, Roberta, of Lockland, Ohio visited Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Holliday on Good Friday. They stayed all night and when they went back on April 9, she took Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Holliday with them. We stayed the first night with Mr. and Mrs. Louie Randolph. Then on Sunday I went with the Randolphs to Sunday School at Wesleyan Christian Church.

On Sunday evening my wife and I went to visit our son, Lawrence Holliday, at Mainville, Ohio. We were driven over there by Shelby Hasty and wife and son, Paul. We had not been there since they moved into their new home. We went to the cemetery at Mainville where Rev. Pierce Steele is buried. His father, Price Steele, and sister, Grace Wood, are buried there. I talked with Mrs. Pierce Steele at the home of her son, Frank Steele, and she said she was doing very well but was very lonesome since the passing of her husband some days ago.

Sunday night, we stayed with our son Edward Holliday of Ma-on. On Monday, our grandson, Paul Hasty, came and took us to visit our daughter Lena Hasty. Lena is not in too good health.

We visited with all our children, Mrs. Wm. Loyd Ross of Reading, Ohio, Edward Holliday and family of Mason, Ohio, and made calls to Mr. Nannie Jones, Herbert Ony, Grant Hammonds, and Mrs. Ivis Brown.

The following persons took me out for a birthday party (my birthday was not until April 27) Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Hasty and son Paul, Mrs. Bonnie Randolph and daughter Roberta, Mrs. Nora Gay Ross, and Myrtle Holliday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Holliday of Mainville, Ohio brought us home Friday evening. We enjoyed that visit and want to thank them all for their kindness and consideration of our happiness.

On arriving home we learned that our neighbor, Rex Lacy, had passed on to a better world. We want to extend our sympathy to all the family. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gullett spent Easter season with their daughter, Mrs. Robert Ison and family.

CANCER RESEARCH BILL NEEDS YOUR HELP NOW

BY ANN LANDERS

Who among us has not lost a loved one to cancer? Is there a single person in my reading audience so incredibly lucky that his life has not been changed in some way by this dread disease? More Americans died of cancer in 1969 than were killed in the four years of World War II. Of the 200 million Americans alive today, 50 million will develop cancer. Approximately 3 1/2 million will die of it. Cancer claims the lives of more children under 15 years of age than any other illness.

How many of us have asked the question, "if this great country of ours can put a man on the moon why can't we find a cure for cancer?" One reason is that we have never launched a national campaign, a united effort, against this killer disease. Another reason is money. The funds designated for medical research in America is grossly inadequate. Government grants for medical research have virtually dried up. The lion's share of the tax dollar is going to defense.

The following statistics shook me. They tell an interesting (and shameful) story about the priorities in this country. In 1969, for every man, woman and child in the United States our government spent:

$125 on the war in Vietnam
$19 on the space program

$19 on foreign aid
$9 on cancer research

Soon a bill will come before the United States Senate which calls for the establishment of a National Cancer Authority. This bill, S-34 will be sponsored by Senators Edward Kennedy and Jacob Javits. The proposed National Cancer Authority would be an agency similar to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) which put men on the moon. This Conquest of Cancer bill demands that the highest priority be given to devise better methods of prevention, diagnosis and cure of cancer at the earliest possible date.

Today you have the opportunity to be a part of the mightiest offensive against a single disease in the history of our country. If enough citizens let their senators know they want Bill S-34 passed, it will pass.

I urge each and every person who reads this column to write to his two senators at once—or better yet, send telegrams. If you don't know the names of your two senators, call your newspaper and ask the switchboard operator. Address your letter or telegram to: Senator —, Senate Office Building, Washington, D. C. 20510.

(Editor's Note: The two senators from Kentucky are John Sherman Cooper and Marlow Cook.)

Your message need consist of only three words: "Vote for S-34" and sign your name, please.

No one can do everything, but each of us can do something. It is entirely possible that this one small act could reshape the lives of millions. Get moving.

SALYERSVILLE — The murder trial of Mrs. Jean Mann and her eldest son, John Wesley Mann, has been continued to July 21 in Magoffin Circuit Court.

Special Judge W. Major Gardner announced the continuance after lengthy conference with attorneys.

Judge Gardner said that two reasons brought the postponement. First, Commonwealth Attorney Afton Smith was ill and unable to continue prosecution of the case, and second, absence of a key witness.

Three days had been spent in attempting to empanel a jury for the trial and 11 had been seated when court convened Wednesday morning.

Two others were temporarily approved when the conference was called, and all activities ceased. All jurors were then dismissed and empanelling of a new jury will have to take place when the trial reconvenes.

Mrs. Mann and her son had been indicted in connection with the death of her husband, former County Attorney Arnett Mann.

YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY

Service provided by social security offices is changing rapidly, with improved and faster service the ultimate goal.

Thomas B. Thompson, district manager of the Ashland social security office, reported this week that several new concepts in improved public service are now operational in most social security offices throughout the country. "By far the most important change in our service," said Thompson, "is emphasis on increased use of the telephone to conduct social security and Medicare business."

Thompson stressed that use of the telephone itself is nothing new to social security. "We've always used the telephone to conduct many aspects of social security business. What makes our present use of the telephone significant is that we've now come to realize it is both necessary and most efficient to use the telephone in situations which have previously been handled through personal interviews."

Referring to the tremendous increase in the volume of claims and inquiries at social security offices in recent years, Thompson revealed telecommunications and job specialization as the other major areas of improved service. "For many years we stressed the personal interview as our basic contact with the public. What couldn't be done by personal interview was handled by mail or, in many of the primarily non-technical inquiries, by telephone. But Medicare and the ever-increasing complexities of the social security law have changed all that."

He pointed out that all local social security offices, central offices, reviewing offices, and payment centers are now linked together by a vast system of telecommunications equipment. In addition, local offices are staffed with trained specialists, killed in various fields of administering the social security and Medicare laws. "We are now in a position where the volume of business we conduct cannot possibly be accomplished without a de-emphasis in the personal interview in the office, and a corresponding increased emphasis on use of the telephone by the public," Thompson said.

He concluded that the present trend in improved social security service to the public can be summarized most simply as involving a basic public contact by telephone with the appropriate local office specialist, and the resulting claim or other action being processed to completion over the high-speed communications system.
